Rural Communities Opioid Response Program – Overdose Response

Deadline: March 10, 2025

Purpose: The Rural Communities Opioid Response Program (RCORP) - Overdose Response program will provide grants to establish and/or expand substance use disorder (SUD) prevention, harm reduction, treatment, and recovery services in targeted rural service areas.

Areas of Focus: SUD Prevention, Harm Reduction, Treatment, Recovery

Eligibility: Eligible applicants include all domestic public or private, nonprofit or for-profit entities.

All RCORP services must be:

- Responsive to the needs of the target rural service area
- Culturally and linguistically appropriate for the target rural population
- Inclusive of individuals with lived or living experience by involving them as part of the planning and implementation process
- Easily accessible and available to the target rural population, for example through offering extended treatment hours, providing transportation to appointments, and/or increasing accessibility for individuals with disabilities
- Available to all individuals regardless of ability to pay
- Fully implemented and running within the one-year period of performance
- Sustainable after the program period ends through innovative and multi-sectoral approaches
- Targeted to opioid use disorder, but may also address other substance use disorders where there is demonstrated need
- Coordinated and integrated with other SUD services and resources in the target rural service area
